Introduction

Language usage as a means of communication is expanding quickly in modern society. People express their views, emotions, and sentiments with one another through language. To do this, people must understand the underlying meaning of the dialogue. If individuals in a conversation or communication are unable to grasp the implied meaning, there will be misunderstanding (Yule, 2020). Language is very important in communication. According to Leech (1983), language begins to alter in accordance with its purpose and use. The same holds true for people who speak rudely. If the speaker and the interlocutor are unable to hold polite talks in social situations, their communication may be suffered. To understand more about language, speech act holds a crucial role for it. According to Levinson (1983), speech act is the study of intended meaning in utterances spoken and written is known as speech acts. Furthermore, the most crucial components of a speech act are the message of the speaker's intention, in order for the hearer understands a message from the speaker.

One of the examples of common media communication that everyone need is movie. As stated by Flick (2014), movie has situation for social interaction and communication. Find someone else (Juniartha et al., 2020)
Many people complained, it’s our homework, and with Prabowo-Sandi God willing we enforce the law, we ensure there is no corruption anymore, we make sure a glory in Indonesia (Husain et al., 2020)

This kind of verbal act to do something in the future is established between two people. The speaker makes an effort to follow through on what they say. The aim of the expression is to convince the audience that the speaker is sincere in what they want. Example:

"And then I will give what is needed for Slamet and Busono’s future" (Azizah & Suhardi, 2020)

"I am running for reelection to bring back the tremendous prosperity that we enjoyed before the plague came in, and it’s happening very fast" (Gea & Johan, 2020)

"We shall turn it back into its former state" (Istiqomah & Ibrohim, 2020)

D. Accept
According to (Searle & Vanderveken, 1985), accept commissive responses to a limited percentage of very specific directions, and whose propositional content is specified by the speech act to which it is a response. Example:

"Oh yeah! We don’t have any plans." (Desica & Ambalegin, 2021)

"Okay" (Sihotang & Ambalegin, 2022)

E. Assure
According to Searle & Vanderveken (1985) an act in a form of utterance or words that is conveyed by the speaker to the listener with the intention of making the situation conducive and has the intention of providing understanding. Example:
And you'll find they're really comfortable (Kumalasari, 2019)

F. Guarantee

According to (Searle & Vanderveken, 1985), guarantee is a speech that the speaker must do a responsibility for perform the act that delivered. Example:

I guarantee that the Gerindra party will fight corruption. If there is a member of Gerindra who are corrupt, I will put him in prison by myself (Husain et al., 2020)
