Introduction
As an international language, English represents media interaction and communication between people from different parts of the world. Learning to improve social relationships and knowledge is very important. When students learn English, they focus on mastering four language skills, namely listening, speaking, reading and writing.

Reading and writing are useful for written expression, and speaking and listening are useful for oral expression. Writing is one of the best ways to improve students’ ability to communicate in English. Writing is absolutely necessary for several reasons. First, writing is a form of communication with other people in the world. Second, almost all occupations require the ability to write. Finally, writing can be accepted as one of the characteristics of an educated person.

Writing is absolutely necessary for several reasons. First, writing is a form of communication with other people in the world. Second, almost all occupations require the ability to write. Finally, writing can be accepted as one of the characteristics of an educated person. Harmer (2004:33) states Writing often helps in preparation for another activity, especially when students write down sentences to introduce the discussion activity. According to Lestari et al (2020:262) said, “Writing is a difficult skill for native speakers and non-native speakers; because writers must be able write it in multiple issues such as content, organization, purpose, audience, vocabularies and mechanics such as punctuation, spelling, and capitalization”, it is because there are some aspects that the students should learn to make a good writing.

Writing is distinct from other language skills. Students learn a message that has been formulated by someone else by reading and listening. During speaking, students express themselves through their own thoughts and feelings, occasionally involving a discussion partner, leading to colloquialisms. On the other hand, For written communication to be effective, the writer must be truly proficient. Also, one of the language skills that students should be proficient in is writing. In writing, The ability to employ grammar to create texts or sentences and a command of vocabulary are requirements for students. Because it will be used in many aspects of life, it is a crucial ability. People are meant to be able to express themselves through writing. For this reason, As part of their writing assignments, all students in the writing classroom are usually requested to create simple texts such narratives, recounts, descriptives, procedures, discussions, reviews, spoofs, and expository essays. On this case the researcher focuses on the difficulties writing in recount text. One of the text kinds that students in senior high school are required to master is recount text. Recount text is a text which retells past events or experiences. All of those parts should be understood by the students, and they should be able to write this text. In reality, students frequently struggle while writing and listening to recount texts. Most students feel difficult and confused to produce recount text correctly.

The reason of choosing the topic is the researcher have done small observation to students where researcher did research, and the researcher found that in the school many students still have difficulties in writing, and the school is located in rural area, so the lack of English facilities in the place such as English courses and the students in the school are less interested in English learning. In light of the explanation provided above, the researcher conducted studying to identify the difficulties students have while writing recount texts with a generic structure. This research conducted at SMAN 1 Selesai Kab. Langkat and the research title "the Students’ Difficulties in English Writing on Tenth Grade in SMAN 1 Selesai Kab. Langkat. in this research the researcher has a question to find data What are the students’ difficulties in writing recount text at tenth grade of SMA Negeri 1 Completed Kab. Langkat.
